

May 28, 2021

Snapchat Case May Offer Opening For Design Defect Plaintiffs

James Rotondo and Andrew Ammirati authored a bylined article for Law360 titled, “Snapchat Case May Offer Opening For Design Defect Plaintiffs.” The article details how the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit held that the Communications Decency Act did not grant Snap immunity for a design defect claim relating to the Snapchat application itself.

Read the full article here.

Authors

James H. Rotondo

Partner

Hartford, CT | (860) 275-0197

jhrotondo@daypitney.com